CENTER FOR LIFE SCIENCE ENTERPRISE

A Center for Advanced Technology (CAT) Program of New York State

Fall 2015 Events

September 25, 2:00 – 3:00 pm, Biotech Bldg. G-01

Life Science Innovation at Cornell: How to Bring your Research to the Commercial Realm

With Marla Coppolino, Director of Business Development & Outreach, Center for Life Science Enterprise (CAT)

Learn how to navigate the essential processes at Cornell, from disclosing your technology to forming a startup.

September 30, 8:30 am – noon, Biotech Bldg. G-01 (Co-organized by the McGovern Center)

Small Business Innovation Research/ Small Business Technology Transfer Research (SBIR/STTR) Life Sciences Workshop

With Marcene Sonneborn, MBA, MPA; SBIR & Innovation Specialist, Central NY Technology Development Organization

Federal SBIR/STTR awards are an important source of funding for start-up and small businesses. This workshop will provide current information and practical advice to faculty, research associates, postdocs, and students interested in acquiring funding for academic research that has commercial potential.

Please register by September 18, 2015! Contact Marla Coppolino, mlc247@cornell.edu.

November 6, 2:00 – 4:00 pm, Biotech Bldg. G-01

Making the Diagnosis: the Physician's Task, and How You Can Help

With Fred Barken, MD and volunteer mentor for Cornell's McGovern Center life science incubator

If you're a Cornell researcher at work on a potentially commercializable medical diagnostic, this event provides a rare opportunity to discuss medical diagnostic development with one of their end-user physicians. You'll also hear a success story from a researcher/ entrepreneur who creates medical diagnostics.
